Ankle Braces & Supports

Ankle injuries can occur at any age. Every Day in the US, 25,000 people sprain their ankle. More than 1 million people visit the emergency room each year because of ankle injuries and only half of all ankle sprains occur during athletic activity.

Removable side stabilizers may be inserted in each side of brace for extra support

Plantar Fasciitis Solutions

Heel pain is often caused by Plantar Fasciitis: an inflammation of the fibrous tissue along the bottom of the foot that connects the heel bone to toes. Using a night splint will help stretch the plantar fascia while sleeping. Daytime plantar supports provide compression and support to ease heel and/or foot pain.

Thermal Vent®
Gentle compression and warmth to ease pain

Engineered with MVT²
Thermal Vent Supports provide warmth and heat therapy to help increase pliability and elasticity of muscles and tendons making them more responsive to therapy and exercise.

The layered thermal lining features a soft, nylon material that wicks away moisture and a microventilated, breathable membrane that captures and retains your natural body heat to ease pain. This allows moist air to escape keeping the skin comfortable. With unsurpassed quality, these supports provide gentle compression and warmth to help reduce swelling and associated pain, as well as promote recovery.
